Convert existing Studielink account to DigiD

How to convert your existing Studielink account to DigiD

Each student that is enrolled in a Dutch municipality and has a Dutch Burger Service Nummer (BSN), has to log in at Studielink using DigiD. If you already have a Studielink account, you have to convert this once to DigiD. In this manual is shown how to do so. If you do not own DigiD, request it first and make sure your DigiD is activated before you follow the steps below. You can request a DigiD at www.digid.nl (where you'll also find more information about applying and activating your DigiD).

Note: Always use your own DigiD!

Click <Log in with your DigiD>.

The screenshot shows the Studielink login page. At the top left is the Studielink logo. The main heading is "Welcome to Studielink" with flags for the Netherlands, Belgium, and Germany. Below this is a paragraph about enrolling in a study programme. There are two columns of text: "I live in the Netherlands" and "I do not live in the Netherlands". Under the first column is a button "Log in with DigiD" with a green arrow pointing to it, and a link "Request DigiD username". Under the second column is a button "Log in via Studielink" and a link "Apply for username and password". At the bottom are links "I have a question" and "About this website". On the right side, there is a "Help" sidebar with a "Welcome to Studielink" section and a "Required fields" section.

Log in using your DigiD username ("Gebruikersnaam") and password ("DigiD Wachtwoord")

Indicate that you wish to keep your enrolment history from your old Studielink account. The details from the old Studielink account will be linked to DigiD. In order to do this, please enable the option <I want to keep my enrolment history>.

Now a login option will appear where you should enter your old Studielink username and password once. After you've done so, click <Retrieve data>.
