(DIS)ABILITY NETWORK

We are stronger together!

The (Dis)ABILITY Network, DIN, is a network of and for students and alumni with a disability. We exchange knowledge and experiences to make studying as optimal as possible. This can be on an emotional, practical or informative level. Together we discuss our experiences. The (Dis)ability Network also takes note of any problems and contributes to solving them.

let's change
YOU. US. THE WORLD.

DE HAAGSE
HOGESCHOOL

Having a disability can involve all kinds of obstacles while studying. To accommodate this, The Hague University of Applied Sciences offers customised facilities and support lines. Sometimes it is nice to share your (im)possibilities with fellow students who understand or relate to what you are going through. This is why the (Dis)ability Network was created.

The (Dis)ability Network is a network of and for students/alumni with a disability. With us you can meet fellow students and share your experiences. We would love to hear what you encounter during your studies, or simply what you think would make the experience here more successful.

We meet monthly. We share our knowledge and experience. We look for opportunities to make studying with a disability as optimal as possible.

Stay up to date with all the news about studying with a disability (at The Hague University of Applied Sciences) via our Facebook page www.facebook.com/disabilitynetwork HHS or email us at: disabilitynetwork@hhs.nl.

(Do you have questions and would you prefer to remain anonymous? Feel free to ask your question, We will treat your email confidentially!)
